Add-value for the participants

The aim of the conference is to bring together researchers and practitioners to facilitate the exchange of knowledge and experience concerning multidimensional aspects of regional development. Thus, the scope of the ERSA 2017 Conference is 'Hopes & Threats' that are or will be influencing the social, economic, environmental, and political situation of Regions of Tomorrow. Moreover, we hope that you find our event an excellent opportunity for networking activities on your future projects.

The idea of the conference is to present and discuss ongoing research on both novel theories and latest applications in regional science and to follow and support the regional policy. Therefore, i.a. regionalists, statisticians, econometricians, applied scientists, political scientists, sociologists, geographers, and economists are welcomed to join us to share knowledge and exchange ideas.

The idea of the workshop is to discuss the key functional offerings accessible to regional researchers thanks to the use of Geographical Information Systems. The workshop is organised in two parts. The first one focuses on the primary visualization methods of socio-economic phenomenon and the second deals with database management available by the GIS software. The workshop is designed as a crash-course. The main audience targeted by the workshop is the early career researchers in regional science and Ph.D. students, but we sincerely invite all the conference participants to join us!
